“Pop-Up” Displays Description

“Pop-Up” Displays

Various key information in individual webpages is access by clicking on a “button” and the information will “pop-up” in a separate display that overlays the webpage.

If the length of “pop-up” display information is greater than the height of your screen, there will be a scroll bar on the right that will allow you to scroll up and down the “pop-up” display.

If you are using a touchscreen, you may use your finger of pointing device (pen) to move the “pop-up” display up and down. If the “pop-up” display fits within your screen there will be no scroll bar.

Each “pop-up” display is available as a PDF document that can be printed and/or downloaded for later printing/viewing. The “button” on the main webpage to access the “pop-up” display will have both a Print and Download icon/text that may be selected to accomplish those functions.

If you are not familiar with PDR Documents, review the information at the Help/Accessing PDF Document subtab.

Each “pop-up” display has an X in the top, right corner. Clicking that symbol will close the “pop-up” display.
